A photograph of a live band performing on stage. In the center, a male singer in a black jacket and white t-shirt is singing into a microphone. To his left, a guitarist is playing a light blue electric guitar. To the right, a drummer is visible behind a drum kit. The stage is lit with several spotlights, creating a dramatic atmosphere with beams of light and some smoke or haze. The background is dark, and the overall scene is captured in a professional, cinematic style.

Events, concerts, and theaters have a big possibility today to promote their uniqueness on social media. The use of these platforms became more and more popular, useful, and of course, competitive, therefore event organizers are trying their best to show how attractive their events are. Audiences, followers, and participants need to know more about every event. Giving information by publishing texts or images is a basic type of promotion but not the strongest one. At MAGE PICTURES we offer affordable types of videos that are specialized to promote events. Before the events, we can deliver you a video based on your existed materials, but it is not the end of the story.

We also deliver a service to document the event as an archival documentary which can be used for the next edition of the event. We enjoy the contact with cameramen, photographers, sound experts, lighting experts, and editors to make a great video about your event to make your audiences aware and passionate about your current event or for your next events.

Within this service and based on your needs we can deliver you a fully documented video by using several cameras or trailer documented short video which shows the attractive moments of your event to your followers on social media or public media.
